BIG RAILROAD DEAL.

Controlling Interest in the Alton Said to Have Been Bought.

The Union Pacific Rumored to be the Purchaser.

The Reported Deal Denied by Some and Confirmed by Others.

General Miles' Annual Report Received at the Department.

A New Deal.

NEW YORK, October 30.—The World this morning asserts that the Union Pacific has secured a control of a majority of the stock of the Chicago and Alton railroad and that the latter now becomes a part of the Vanderbilt Union Pacific system. The amount thus last secured and its cost is not known but it is supposed to be nearly thirteen millions.

BOSTON, October 30.—The story that the Union Pacific has purchased the Chicago and Alton is pronounced untrue at the Union Pacific office.

NEW YORK, October 30.—Notwithstanding all the denials the Wall street news agency says "The Vanderbilt interests insist that the control of the Alton has been bought and it is stated that the Union Pacific collateral trust bonds are to be used in taking up all the stock now being printed."

It is stated positively this evening that the Alton deal has been accomplished. J. Pierpont Morgan is credited with having put it through. It is asserted that the papers will all be signed in a few days. When the Alton withdrew from the inter state commerce railway association its position was such that it must either begin to fight for business or lease, or sell out to some other company. The Atchison finally made an offer to purchase control at $125 per share. The proposition was not satisfactory and the negotiations fell through. The Union Pacific in contemplation of its deal with the Northwestern offered $140 per share and the Alton accepted.

Chauncey M. Depew did not refuse to admit the full effect and full influence attributed to the transaction. He said: "There has been no change of proprietary interest in the Alton system so far as I know, nor as I am informed has there been any operation like consolidation. I understand that a traffic agreement similar to that negotiated between the Northwestern and the Union Pacific has been signed upon. The newspapers have been induced to make too much of the matter."

CHICAGO, October 30.—"The statement that the Chicago and Alton has been absorbed by the Union Pacific, is a lie made out of whole cloth," said President Miller.

Vice President Blair, of the Chicago and Alton, said this evening efforts were secretly made by the Big Four syndicate to defeat the traffic agreement with Alton, but none of the plans proposed were acceptable and the matter has been settled for the present. There has been no offer to buy the Alton.

General Miles' Report.

WASHINGTON, October 30.—The annual report of General Miles, succeeding the division of the Pacific, comprising the departments of Columbia, California and Arizona, with troops stationed in the states of Idaho, Nevada and Oregon and the territories of Washington, Idaho Arizona, New Mexico and Alaska, has been received. It recommends that enlistment be made for three years; that enlisted men, as far as possible, be permitted to select the divisions in which they shall serve, that men found to be qualified, after five years' service, be commissioned second lieutenants, and if there be no vacancies for them that they receive honorable discharges, that the three battalion organizations stationed in Europe for the infantry, be added by the United States.

The "Pacific coast defenses" form the subject of a considerable part of the report. General Miles calls attention to the fact that there is not a single gun in position to protect the cities of Puget sound and the great commercial interests of the northwest. It is estimated that to put the coast in a proper position for defense would require five hundred and seventy three modern guns and mortars. To this end the general recommends one appropriation of $250,000 to secure the titles to the strategic points necessary to be occupied for defense, and another of $100,000 to establish a plant for the construction of modern guns and ammunition, and a third of $25,000,000, or as much as can be expended in four years, for providing guns and the material required on the coast. The general calls attention to the fact that in the mint at San Francisco there lies 25,000,000 silver dollars alone piled up as a temptation to any third rate naval power to plunder the coast.

Mr. Reed Cold.

LYNCHBURG, Va., October 30.—A passenger train bound east and a freight train going west on the Norfolk and Western road collided last night between Liberty and Thaxtons. Both trains were wrecked.

It is reported that the firemen and engineers of both trains were killed and that one passenger was killed and many hurt.

Inter-State Association.

CHICAGO, October 30.—The Inter State Commerce Railway association is practically dead. The Rock Island, Burlington and St. Paul roads take the ground that the agreement has been violated by the Union Pacific and Northwestern. The Times to-morrow will say they will no longer be bound by the rules. The association although formal notice of their withdrawal will not be given.

The Times further says there is evidence of sub-organization on the part of the roads named above to use the Union Pacific, sick of its bargain, and to them and a strong fight will be made. From now until the January meeting of the presidents in New York an auxiliary association will govern western railroad affairs if they are governed at all. Whether a new association will be formed at that meeting is a question on which there is a diversity of opinion.

Hotter Reprisals.

HAMMER, Ind., October 30.—A portable boiler on a farm near this place exploded this afternoon, killing Adam Mann and scalding seriously five others.

The News has had no sensation about Frank Pine for several days past. It still could make a sensation by publishing that confession which it announced from day to day that he would make regarding the robbery of President Moffat.

The conviction of the Cranors was a great triumph of justice. The amount of opposition was tremendous. Mr. Kramer, the superintendent of the express company, steadily declined to give up the prosecution, because he believed the men were guilty, and that as manager of an express company he could not afford to compromise with express robbers.

If the entire history of the various political propositions made to give up the prosecution of the Cranors could be published it would make a great sensation. It must be humiliating to the republican party of Arapahoe county to think that Jim Connor was for years one of its most influential members. He took an active part in the late republican county convention. At that time, he was indicted and had already had one trial. If the republican ticket is not successful in Arapahoe county this fall, the candidates can blame themselves for it, for they conducted the primaries in a way that it brought to the surface as the leaders of the party the very worst elements in Denver.

There is less interest than usual this fall in our county election, considering there are two tickets in the field. The reason of it is perfectly evident. The republicans before the republican party for the different offices did not have a fight in the primaries or carry that fight into the convention. For that reason there is no increased dissatisfaction with the ticket. The nominations were made fairly in the convention and there is no ground for dissatisfaction. Our esteemed contemporary, the Mail, thinks that the independent republican should oppose this ticket. But it will have a very strong impression of what the independent republican is. If an independent republican is always going to split the republican ticket, he should call himself by another name. He is not a anti-republican. If a man calls himself a republican, he ought not to oppose the ticket except in some substantial ground, the unfitness of the candidates or the unfair way in which they obtained the nomination. Neither objection stands this year, and the ticket should be, as it will be, triumphantly elected. Still it is never best to be too sure and every republican should be careful to cast his vote.

Mr. Gladstone paid a great compliment to our statesmen of the revolution, by saying that they were a match for any in the whole history of the world, and more than a match to those of any one epoch. It might be considered conceited in an American to say this, but Mr. Gladstone has the right to say it and probably says it after considerable reflection, as he has given a good deal of time to the study of our revolutionary period. There have been no revolutions before this of any great importance where private ambition has not clashed more or less with the interests of the state, so that among revolutionists themselves there has always been a large amount of jealousy and it more frequently treachery. But the American revolution presents an almost ideal state of relations between the leaders, showing that unselfish patriotism was unusually present. The same ability which makes a successful revolution does not always build up a state. Our forefathers were successful in both, and our constitution stands today as the wisest, most practical and wisest political document ever yet adopted for the government of a people. It is just as well to call to mind the civic virtues and great wisdom of our forefathers that we may properly esteem our inheritance.

THE ART EXHIBITION.

Mrs Adair Tevis on the Great Engravers and their Masterpieces.

The lecture yesterday afternoon on the "Great Engravers and Their Masterpieces," the most important in the course on the subject of engraving, was illustrated by a number of the master pieces of the artists of the English, French, Dutch and Italian schools.

The art of engraving are divided into two classes, those who published before the middle of the sixteenth century and whose work reposed at the bottom of the art, including the famous painters who engraved their own designs, and those who came in the following two hundred years.

Marc Antonio, the greatest of the Italian engravers, appeared about 1487 and worked under the direction of Raphael, who recognized the value of the art in multiplying his own designs.

The German school was stiff and Gothic in style until the time of Albert Durer, who added technical execution to the greatest perfection. Rembrandt early in the Seventeenth century resorted to etching as more rapid and expressive, and carried the art to a height which made him the great representative etcher. But he despised grace and beauty of form, and his figures were uncouth and clumsy. They, however, expressed dignity and the lines of character on cheek and brow were full of power. His effects of light and shade were also magical and stamp him as a master. Reuben's genius asserted itself at this time and no other masterpieces paintings were so well treasured as by the contemporary school of engravers.

Art in the time of Louis XIV was elaborate and florid and reveled in fine costumes and textures, and figures were subordinate to their gorgeous surroundings.

Gerard Edelinck was the leader of the French school at this time. His portraits were wonderful in execution, the flesh and eyes seeming living and real. His "Madonna" of which was on exhibition, has a masterful face and the pose of the body, with one hand holding a pen and the other a copy of the book of law, is full of power with the color of life shining through it.

Among Edelinck's contemporaries were Mason, who was succeeded by his masterpiece, "Cadet of Pearl." Drevet by a "Louis XIV" and "Adrienne Le Couvreur." These closed the age of French portrait engraving.

Toward the last of the 18th century appeared Bervic, whose sympathies a Louis XVI, branded him as a traitor to the spirit of the revolution and to save his life he was forced to bend his plate under and throw it into the river Seine. But he was cunning enough to bend the plate in such a way as to injure it very little, and making the spot white it was thrown dared it out after the revolution and secured pleading from it. It is said but nine proofs had been taken before, and the one taken after the revolution shows a line where the plate was bent. The proof on exhibition is one of the original nine from the Earl of Aylesford's collection.

The style of the French engravers from the time of Bervic's pupil, Antonio, to Toschi was captivating and produced the almost natural glory of the masters. Toschi died in the full career of College a mine of wealth, and we should know nothing of him but for his travels.

The British school produced in modern times two great line engravers Strange who excelled in rich soft mezzotint and line work, any of the continental school, represented by his masterpiece a portrait of Charles I and another of the three children of Charles, and Sharpe.

Sir Hugh Lenglit stands at the head of the English school of etching engravers who use no lines in their work. On a copper plate by means of a stylus and a burnisher indentations are made which print as etching. Tone and shade are produced with wonderful skill by graduations of the lights and shades. This is a notable method and a striking engraving of Angelica Kaufman is a model that example of tone and feeling. The art is little practiced however, as it is too slow to suit publishers.

The lecture of Saturday will be the last and most one of the course, and in it the eye of the lover of art will be taught to distinguish at sight the merits of models of etchings and engravings.

Correspondence.

Colorado Springs, October 29, '89.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

SIR—May I venture to call the attention of all friends of music in Colorado Springs to the second advertisement of Mr. Winkler's series of four to be given on afternoon, in November and December. Those who attended the series of last season will, I am sure, gladly take advantage of the same pleasant opportunity again. But there may be many among the recent arrivals in the city who do not know that Mr. Winkler's is the only series of Chamber music concerts given in Colorado Springs during the winter. The support given to this first set of four will determine, I understand, whether others will be given later in the winter.

It is to be sincerely hoped that a hearty response may meet Mr. Winkler's efforts to provide for our community this very charming form of enjoyment during the coming winter. EMMA IVES GILMAN.

A Public Spirited Man.

Pueblo, October 30.—Hon. J. Parker Whitney, a wealthy citizen of Boston who is largely interested in Pueblo and other Colorado cities, is here. Mr. Whitney played an important part in the early days of Colorado. At the world's fair held in Paris twenty years ago he made grand exhibits of mineral specimens from the Colorado mines. The expense of this enterprise was enormous as every article had to be hauled by ox teams to St. Joe, Mo. The greater portion of the outlay was borne by Mr. Whitney, and no little interest was indulged in upon the display by both European and American journals. Should the world's fair of 1892 be located at Chicago, Mr. Whitney will send a creditable display of Colorado minerals to that exposition.

Harrison and Noble Confer.

WASHINGTON, October 30.—Commissioner Raum had a conference with Secretary Noble to day relative to the decapitated pension office employes. He afterward said that no definite conclusion was reached. Secretary Raum has issued instructions to the heads of divisions directing that all claims involving large sums of money are to be brought to him for his consideration before the pension certificate is issued.

THE GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1889.

The potato bake has been postponed one week

Mr H G Krake, general agent of the Santa Fe at Denver, was a visitor in the city yesterday

Mr David Workman an old time citizen of Manitou park, was in the city yesterday

Col R S Haynes returned from the east yesterday morning after an absence of several months

Clerk Daily of the Alamo has been taking a vacation for several days, and is spending his time in Denver

Mr Tom. Saunders, superintendent of the Midland left for Nickerson, Kan., last night over the Santa Fe

A large force of brick masons will be put at work to day on the Alamo hotel additions and the work rapidly pushed

The weather permitting there will be a practice game of foot ball to day between the College club and a picked nine

A marriage license was issued yesterday to George A Warren, of Green Mountain Falls, and Miss Mary M. Hall, of Manitou Park station

Owing to the bad weather the opening of Mr. Charles Collins' riding school will be postponed until a later date, which will be announced hereafter.

Regular meeting of Pike's Peak lodge No. 38, I. O. O. F., this evening. There will be work in the initiatory degree All visiting brothers cordially invited

Mr Will Miller and bride, nee Miss Pauline Kuhn, arrived at home from Denver yesterday and are receiving the congratulations of friends. Mr. Miller is a member of the well known drug firm of Miller Bros.

The Denver, Texas and Ft. Worth people got moved into their new freight depot yesterday, where they will be glad to receive their friends and talk shipping matters. The ticket office will remain in the old building.

"A Brass Monkey" will be the next attraction at the opera house. Manager Nye attended their opening performance in Denver at the Tabor Grand, last Monday evening, and says it is the best of all Hoyt's plays Two and one-half hours of solid fun, music and dancing.

It is thought there will be a large number of bids for the city's water bonds next Monday, when the bids are to be read in open council. The city clerk has received letters of inquiry from bond men in New York, Boston, Kansas City, Cleveland, Chicago and other centers of large capital.

T. A. Hood, proprietor of the Hotel Buxton, at Manitou, takes possession of the Loomis cottage, on the corner of Teion and Kiowa street, on November 1st The house will hereafter be known as the Idlewild Cottage. Mr. Hood has been very successful in catering to the wants of the public at Manitou.

The entire morning yesterday was taken up in the county court in arguments in the case of the city against the six Chinamen accused of gambling. The case went to the jury about noon and in a short time a verdict of not guilty was returned. The prosecution was unable to establish the fact that there was gambling going on at the time of the arrest.

A telephone message from Monument to the GAZETTE last night announced that the potato bake had been postponed for one week, which will bring the event on Friday, November 8th. The postponement has been occasioned by the snow, which now lays several inches deep on the Divide. A few days of Colorado sunshine will drive that away, however, and as the same arrangements will be made as if it was to occur to morrow the only disappointment will be the delay The pleasure of anticipation will only be the greater.
